

II-Kings-2:11 And then it happened, as they walked ah chariot of fire appeared with horses of fire and separated Elijah and Elisha and when Elisha saw it he cried.

My Father My Father

Introduction

- God wants to reveal his desire and will in the age and time of the script, but also in the transition of time to the life of you.
- My Father identifies how to hear his voice, as it moves from one mountain to another, to valleys, creeks, and streams of the tablets of the heart.
- An introduction to your inner person from the timeless pages of the bible, specific reference points how to begin to be happy, identifying some things being done for you, that you are not aware of.
- Awakening knowledge that sometimes God puts some of us in the position as Elisha, a position of service to the (King) himself, but often he wears the face of something or someone else.
- Seeing the fingerprints only belonging to you in God's case files suggesting he knows who you are, He made you a great part of a specifically designed blue print of the past present and future, in it lies wonders, mysteries, promotions, majestic acts of the almighty, seeing the script will being newly written.
- Before the sun dial changes and we end an era, there is one thing left to be done, it is a divine act of gesture. more specifically, it is something that is specifically intended for you.
- Seeing love that is unmeasurable and finding out that God wants you to ask what it is you would want him to do for you?
- Proof God has established time lines and boundaries, that his vision and spoken word is made manifest. The long period of being faithful in the call he has given you, your conviction, and commitment has a specific time to end, and you arrive at the place of the miraculous, which by the way I'm sure you didn't know that he might hide you in the background for years in plain sight.
- Protective custody, did he mention that you might be viewed a servant, that you might have to leave some people places? Or that they will be removed away from you sometimes hidden away perhaps even in your own home, city, town, state, you might actually even become ah cast away unknown until when you look at your clock.
- Suddenly the sun dial reads, it's your turn, it's your time in life to shine, be successful, have good health and live out your full God planned destiny. Elijah said to Elisha, before I am taken away.

(Ask what May I do for you). (Change is here, no more business as usual)

- Something is about to happen big for you, no one can take your place it's you and it's yours alone, get ready

(You)

You like Joseph dreamed a dream, and mornings later conspired against, written off, explained and sold away.
You who have dreamed, now ah slave, promoted, demoted, and then ah prisoner.
You like Moses hidden in a basket, raised in a palace and then escorted to the border, and driven out.
You like Jesus, despised and rejected of men; ah man of sorrow acquainted with grief.
You like David, anointed King, and ordered by your family subjects to go back and tend sheep.
You humiliated, scorned, made ashamed disgraced not mentioned for years, hardened, melted.
You smeared in the darkest parts of the canvas before the pictures complete, whose names been erased long ago.
You, identified promoted, demoted, removed relocated within and without
You God has something for you and its being pre-pared to be released from above
It might be descended from above and you will have to take it.
It might be thrust upon your life suddenly
It might even be old like a relict but once in your hands it will be redefined and made new.
It will not work for someone else because it is yours alone.
It has been redesigned, reinvented for you.
It is only meant for you.
